

ARPA-H: The Next Frontier of Biomedical Research

Admiral Brett P. Giroir, MD

Advancing novel technologies and transformational approaches within scientific research

With the creation of the Advanced Research Projects Agency for Health (ARPA-H), the White House acknowledges that the traditional approaches to funding, conducting, and disseminating research are not achieving the results our nation expects and needs. Follow Admiral Brett P. Giroir, MD's testimony to Congress this week where he supports the biotechnology industry and expounds on specific issues directly related to the pending legislation.
