

Addressing Racial Disparity in the North Texas Biotech and Healthcare Ecosystem

(left) Pamela Nelson, RN, PhD,
Founder and CEO of Bracane Company

As the U.S. has transformed rapidly to a technology-based economy, employment in STEM fields has nearly doubled over the last 30 years. While this number far outpaces overall job growth, women, and minorities (in particular) continue to be underrepresented across much of the life sciences and healthcare industries.

For over 20 years, Bracane Company has played an active role in addressing the gender and minority gaps our industry.
